

off-topic: I emailed 8 freelancers

Hi,

Just a comment I guess. I have been looking for a freelancer to handle a small PHP project for my website.

freelancers from this site that listing specific PHP experience.

I stated that I was looking for a talented person at a reasonable price (maybe that was the problem :)) , Yet I have not received a single reply.. I was surprised by this and a little disappointed.

Hi, why don't you just use this form:

<http://www.codegravity.com/submit-project/>

this way, you'll get your project listed in open projects section, and all freelance programmers would receive it by an email.

Yes, and maybe, the "reasonable price" is the problem. Maybe it's not that much attractive for them.

Regards,

Matto
